Information for Authors

Author Responsibilities: WIT Press distributes its publications throughout the world and wants to ensure that the material submitted to its publications is properly available to the readership of those publications. Authors must warrant that the work is the author's original work and has not been published before (if excerpts from copyrighted works, figures, diagrams, photos, trademarks or other such materials are included, the author will obtain written permission from the copyright owners and show credit to the sources in the manuscript.) The author also warrants that the paper describes genuine research or review work, contains no libelous or unlawful statements and does not infringe on the rights of others.

Author/Employer Rights: If you are employed and prepared the Work on a subject within the scope of your employment, the copyright in the Work belongs to your employer as a work-for-hire. In that case, WIT Press assumes that when you sign this Form, you are authorised to do so by your employer and that your employer has consented to the transfer of copyright, to the representation and warranty of publication rights, and to all other terms and conditions of this Form. If such authorization and consent has not been given to you, an authorised representative of your employer should sign this Form as the Author.

WIT Press Copyright Ownership: It is the formal policy of WIT Press to own the copyrights to all copyrightable material in its technical publications and to the individual contributions contained therein (except in cases where a Creative Commons licence is used), in order to protect the interests of WIT Press, its authors and their employers, and, at the same time, to facilitate the appropriate re-use of this material by others. WIT Press distributes its technical publications throughout the world and does so by various means such as hard copy and electronic media. It also abstracts and may translate its publications, and articles contained therein, for inclusion in various compendiums, collective works, databases and similar publications.

Information on the use of Open Access Articles

Reuse: This paper will be freely available, without charge, for users to read, download, copy, distribute, print, search, link to the full text, or use for any other lawful purpose, without asking prior permission from the publisher or the author as long as the author/copyright holder is attributed. This is in accordance with the BOAI definition of open access. We encourage users to include links to the published WIT Press version of the Work, including the Digital Object Identifier (DOI).

Reserved Rights of WIT Press: WIT Press reserves the right to limit the production of derivative works and commercial exploitation of the Work. Should a third party seek to make a derivative work based on the Work or commercially exploit the Work they must seek permission from WIT Press.

Retained Rights/Terms and Conditions

General

1. Authors/employers retain all proprietary rights in any process, procedure, or article of manufacture described in the Work.
2. Authors/employers may reproduce or authorize others to reproduce the Work, material extracted verbatim from the Work, or derivative works for the author's personal use or for company use, provided that the source and the WIT Press copyright notice are indicated, the copies are not used in any way that implies WIT Press endorsement of a product or service of any employer, and the copies themselves are not offered for sale.
3. In the case of a Work performed under a US Government contract or grant, WIT Press recognizes that the US Government has royalty-free permission to reproduce all or portions of the Work, and to authorize others to do so, for official US Government purposes only, if the contract/grant so requires.
4. Although authors are permitted to re-use all or portions of the Work in other works, this does not include granting third-party requests for reprinting, republishing, or other types of re-use. WIT Press Intellectual Property Rights office must handle all such third-party requests.
